HANG THE TRAITORS

SHOOTING is too good for them for shooting is the death of the soldier. The spawn of the serpent that has brought the name of the Milesian race into disrepute by conspiring with minions of the kaiser to enslave Ireland as a dependent of the Hun oligarchy are nothing more than a lot of dirty scoundrels of the sordid tribe of Don't Works and make believe patriots who earn a living by their mouths and those who are more at home debauching their guileless countrymen than they are in risking their necks or lives in support of their theories. It was ever thus. The worst enemies of Ireland have been her own countrymen who, for the sake of petty pelf, stand ready to betray their fellows by playing on their sentiments.

Out upon the filthy turncoats and renegades, the viprous brood of political unrest, the creatures who would sell their own parents for the sake of personal aggrandizement. Who are these people that they should bring reproach to the millions of Irishmen and sons of Irishmen who are fighting the righteous battle of God against the hosts of the devil incarnate. If there was one drop of brave blood in their veins they would not be hiding in New York or any other city of the United States, but they would be found in the ranks of the gallant sons of the shamrock whose bones monument every battlefield of the present theater of war. If these sycophants who covet the gold of the German overlord are desirous of helping their country they would not be found skulking through dark alleys, hiding and sneaking around with gumshoes that they may not be detected in the company of the venal gang of the German government. These things are the crawling reptiles of international scorn whose deeds can be purchased like the prostitute's charms for a price. They are patriots for profit only and the best answer to their allegations that they are freeing Ireland is that they are engaged in the assassin's work of stabbing in the back and in the dark their best friend whose protection is courted as a cloak for their deviltries. The chances are that they came to this country to escape the halter and the gibbet so richly deserved and then, not satisfied with a safe asylum, they give way to their craven passions by turning traitor.

If these debased specimens of manhood are right what have we to say about the Irish brigade that carved its way across the straits of Gallipoli, the men of Munster, Leinster, Connaught and Ulster whose prowess at the Marne won from the queen of Spain the title of the "Best Soldiers of the World."

Who is the progenitor of this conspiracy? Certainly not an Irishman who treasures the name of his father nor an Irishman who has the future of Ireland close to heart, for the records show that two years ago there were 173,372 Irishmen serving in the British army and navy, representing all classes and creeds among the Irish people. At least 150,000 sons of the Irish race, most of them born in Ireland, have joined the colors in Great Britain. Some of the Irish papers have been publishing lists of "Irish Casualties in British Regiments." One of these daily lists taken at haphazard and published November 1, 1916, contains 225 names all distinctly Irish—O'Briens, O'Hanlons, Donovans, etc. As showing the extent to which Scottish regiments at the front are made up of Irishmen, one newspaper quotes 400 names from the casualty lists issued on four successive days of the week. All the names are Irish; all the addresses are Scotch. From 20 to 25 per cent of all the troops from the overseas dominions of Britain are men of Irish blood.

But what's the use of dwelling on what everybody knows. The patriotism of the Irish-American is not to be impeached by a few timeservers and lickspittles, who, for the price of Judas, would sell and deliver their country to the worst enemy of Liberty. The fighting strength of the United States is represented today in round numbers by 1,500,000 men counting the army alone. Of this force it is estimated by official records that at least 25 per cent are of Irish extraction, who are willing to sacrifice their lives for this country as their forefathers did in the scores of Irish regiments battling for the preservation of the adopted land during the civil war. That is the best answer to the invectives and innuendoes of the seum of the universe now masking as Irishmen and serving as cesspool cleaners for the kaiser. The most salutary penalty would be to deport the American Sinn Feiners to Berlin, where they would learn something about being under rule of an autocrat.

SYSTEMATIZING DRIVES

THE people are growing so accustomed to these periodical drives that no time is wasted in converting either man or woman to the cause when ever a canvasser calls. Thrift has become established in the United States. The citizens have acquired the habit of saving their pennies and the result is that they are finding the billion dollar drives so simple that they subscribe with out a thought of depriving their families of any necessary commodity. Both sexes are finding that where a few pennies or dimes are saved from day to day they multiply with a rapidity that soon mounts into dollars and the dollars gather interest unto themselves with such celerity that they soon develop into golden eagles. If there was nothing else to earn by the war the lesson of thrift and saving inculcated by the government appeals for funds is worth the struggle for it brings us all to a realization of the tremendous strength resting with the people. Billions of dollars are subscribed today with less confusion or aggravation of temper than it was possible to gain a few years ago when a million was the utmost figure the American imagination could encompass. The result is that loans are made easily and the next call of the country will find the drive completed in ten days or two weeks instead of being prolonged into a month. There is no necessity for this protracted strain on the public. When a loan drive is planned the committees will find that every thinking citizen has already planned the amount he or she can afford to give. They instinctively set the amount aside and wait for the Liberty loan committee to call. The money has become as much a part of the ordinary expenses of the household as the water, gas, or light bills and each careful housewife knows enough always to provide against the contingency of being deprived of either commodity through neglect.

The experience of the solicitors in the present Red Cross drive has been that in every case the object is understood and there is no attempt at evasion. Where sickness or death has subjected the family to extraordinary expenses the mother or father is not too proud to tell the truth for they know that there is no desire to oppress them with undue exactions. If the family can afford, the collector is advised forthwith of the amount and the transaction is closed with gratitude on one side and honor on the other.

With this experience it is suggested that the next Liberty Loan drive be a whirlwind affair that will clean up and get results in not more than two weeks.

It does not sound exactly right to read of the Saxons eating up a whole menagerie for want of better food when other sources state that the wheat of Ukraine is pouring into German districts. This may prove to be a real camouflage to deceive the allies into the belief that famine is stalking behind the lines.

Sparks must be a pretty lively burg when it can support two newspapers in the shadow of Reno. But then it should not be forgotten that a campaign is impending.

The Italians have recovered their nerve and are hitting back in a style that promises to clear the Piave of the foe before the next snow falls.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

(By Associated Press.)
 BOSTON, May 22.—Boston's winning streak was stopped yesterday. Cleveland winning, 6 to 5. The winning run was scored in the eighth on Miller's triple to left and Chapman's sacrifice fly to Strunk in deep center. Enzman held Boston to one hit until the fifth, when four hits and two bases on balls yielded five runs. Coubme pitched the last four innings and shut out Boston. Leonard was hit hard and in difficulties throughout, good support enabling him to escape heavier punishment.

(By Associated Press.)
 WASHINGTON, May 22.—With two out in the ninth inning, Shaw forced home with a base on balls the run that gave St. Louis a 4 to 3 victory over Washington here yesterday in the second game of the series.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

(By Associated Press.)
 CHICAGO, May 22.—Jack Coombs' great pitching, poor base running by Chicago and Krueger's double and Olson's single enabled Brooklyn to shut out the locals yesterday, 1 to 0, thereby making it two straight. Chicago lost its first chance to score when Deal left third base when Killifer's fly was caught and was doubled. The other chance came in the ninth when Mann was nipped off second.

(By Associated Press.)
 CINCINNATI, May 22.—Every man on the Cincinnati team got a hit off Nehf yesterday, and six of them were bunched in the second inning, when the locals put over seven runs, assisted by a costly error by Rawlings. Bressler was hit freely but kept Boston's drives fairly well scattered. Sherwood Magee, after being called out at the plate by Umpire Moran in the fifth inning, engaged to an argument with the official and was ejected from the field.

(By Associated Press.)
 ST. LOUIS, May 22.—New York bunched four of its hits off Ames in the fifth inning yesterday and shut out St. Louis 2 to 0. In this inning Holke bunted over Blair's head for a single and scored on Rodriguez's triple. A single by Barnes scored Rodriguez.

BRITISH GRAND FLEET ALWAYS ON ALERT

(By Associated Press.)
 LONDON, May 20.—In view of the reiterated German statement that the British fleet does nothing but lie in home waters and harbors, some interesting attaches to a report of the British admiralty which shows that during a single month recently the British Grand fleet and its units steamed a total of over a million miles, while for patrol vessels around the British coasts, the figure was approximately six million miles.

DOUBLE PURPOSE SUITING CLOTHS

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 22.—War-time standard suits for men are soon to be followed by the provision of ready-made suits in serges and tweeds at approximately 80s. for the first and 57s. for the second material. Serge, both black and blue, will also be available for the making of suits to measure at a cost of about £4 12s. 6d. for an ordinary lounge or jacket suit. There will be no standard tweed suits made to measure. From 750,000 to 1,000,000 suits are expected to be on sale during June, July, and August. Cloths and clothing, apart from these standardized materials, will continue to be available at the merchants' and retailers' at their own prices, just as other boots, besides war-time boots, can be had at the bootmakers.

The scheme of supplying clothing to civilians at moderate prices has been prepared by a department of the war office, known as the board of control of wool textile production, which has its headquarters in Bradford. Provision is also made for the clothing of millions of men who will return to civil life on demobilization when peace is declared. What is called "double purpose" cloth is being produced in an undyed state. It will be dyed khaki for military uniforms, or in colors suitable for civilian wear, according to the needs of the situation.
